Sarah and Aimee,

Maggie and I won't be coming over today. The only data being released to our state and local partners is the fully validated data. When that validation is complete the data is posted to our public website. Updates are happening daily. You should be seeing data from early-mid this week soon.

Our OSC app has the preliminary results too (and that's what we are working with here – as well as the fully validated data) so, we can't share the app with you at this time.
